FOR YOUNG READERS...

Peter Rabbit's Happy Easter by Author Grace Maccarone: Peter Rabbit collects "extra" eggs from the neighboring farms. As he piles them for safekeeping, he knocks over several jars of paint, splashing rainbow colors all over the eggs! Mother Rabbit makes Peter Rabbit return the eggs and a new tradition is born, making Peter Rabbit the Easter Bunny! To purchase, visit scholastic.ca.

The Adventures of Trefor the Curling Rock by local Author Kim Perkins: Every night at the curling club, Trefor whispers, "I wish and I wonder about things I can't see." One day, Trefor's curiosity gets the better of him and he sets off on an adventure. To purchase, visit trefor.com.

The Jumbo Book of Space by Authors Cynthia Pratt Nicolson and Paulette Bourgeois: For thousands of years, people have looked up and wondered about the mysteries of space. Where do comets come from? How far away are the stars? This book answers these and many other questions to reveal the secrets of the universe. To purchase, visit kidscanpress.com.

Toilet Tales by Author Andrea Wayne von Königslöw: From mice to orca whales, the animals find that despite their best efforts, toilets are not for them. After many bestial blunders, the animals conclude that they can never use toilets because toilets are meant for "big kids like you." To purchase, visit annickpress.com.

Too Many Toys by Author David Shannon: Spender is in toy heaven: robots, puzzles, stuffed animals, and more. His mom has had it with the mess and demands that he get rid of some of them. This delightful picture book captures an all-too-familiar issue facing parents and their kids who have too much stuff. To purchase, visit scholastic.ca.

Labours of Love: Canadians Talk About Adoption by Author Deborah Brennan: This book chronicles the journeys of Canadians from all walks of life who have overcome heartbreaking obstacles to become parents. While each account is unique in its own way, the stories are connected by the overwhelming commonality of the power of human connection.

There Ain't No Can't: A Tribute to a Child's Struggle & Colossal Achievement by Author Jeffrey Feldstein: When Feldstein's son was diagnosed with Tourette Syndrome, his search for answers to help Noah inspired him to write this book. With his easy-to-use success strategies and behavior modification techniques, Feldstein targets children 8 to 18 and helps them get what they want from life with practical ways to overcome challenges and limitations.

The No-Cry Nap Solution by Bestselling Author of The No-Cry Sleep Solution by Elizabeth Pantley: Will your child only nap in your arms, in a swing or after elaborate rituals? Does your child take cat naps - or none at all? Let world-renowned, trusted parenting author Elizabeth Pantley help you. She'll guide you with the same sensitive expertise and gentle approach used in her other No-Cry bestsellers. To purchase, visit pantley.com/elizabeth/.

Health & Wellness Connection

Gluten-free research project yields tasty results. SAIT Polytechnic's new continuing education courses on gluten-free cooking will be welcome news for those living with celiac disease. The courses developed from an applied research project carried out by Kerry Bennett and Sandy Cutts. Their goal was to develop products that compare in taste and texture to regular baking and to increase the shelf life of gluten-free products. As a result of the project, SAIT will also incorporate gluten-free cooking into the curriculum of the Professional Cooking program.
